Half-Inch Rain Is Reported in Many Parts of County

Rainfall of one-half inch was reported in Canyon Monday night by the co-operating observer of the United States Weather Bureau. A moderate wind accompanied the rain.

Although rain in similar amounts fell in the south and northeast parts of the county, and heavier rains in the west and southwest section, little damage to the wheat crop was reported.

Fear that wind accompanying the storm had caused the ripe grain to fall or shatter was alleviated when all portions of the county had reported harvest work again approaching normal with inconsequential damage from the rain.

Fisk Singers To Appear at W. T., Clark Announces

That the Fisk Jubilee Singers will soon appear at W. T. in a lyceum number has been announced by Wallace R. Clark, chairman of the lyceum committee. Many people have expressed pleasure in knowing that the famous singers are to appear in Canyon.

The Fisk Jubilee Singers, the third generation of which will give a concert here, had their start in 1871. Professor George L. White, then on the faculty of Fisk University, recognized in the religious and plantation melodies, brought by the students, a cultural force which would aid in bringing to the white people a better understanding of their spirit and talents. It was true, also, that Fisk University, established at Nashville, Tennessee, in 1865, to educate the freedmen, was sorely in need of funds, and saw in such an organization an opportunity to help finance its work.

When the company started for its first engagements it took just enough money to pay railroad fares to the first town—and that left exactly $50 in the university treasury. They were known at first only as "a band of colored Christian singers," but one night Professor White had the inspiration for the name which they have carried ever since. The "year of jubilee," mentioned in Leviticus, had always been the favorite figure of speech into which the Negroes put their prayers and hopes for emancipation. Their year of jubilee had come—this little band of singers was a witness to it, and outgrowth of it. And the Fisk Jubilee Singers they became.

COLLEGE LIBRARY DOES BIG CHECKING BUSINESS

Business is good in the Library. During the month of June there were 16,264 books checked out. Of this number, 12,083 came from the Reserved Book Room. The other 4,246 came from the Main Library. At some time during each period of the day, all of the books that are checked out are counted. Another check is made for the overnight period. On June 11, there were 905 books checked from the Reserved Book Room, 150 books were checked from the main Library on the same day. The daily average has been almost 1000 both for the month of June and for the first two weeks of July.

ENCAMPMENT OF BAPTISTS WILL START AUGUST 5

MINISTERS FIX DATE AT MEETING NEAR HERE.

Event Will Last Through August 11—Big Crowds Expected During Entire Week.

Baptist ministers of the Panhandle district fixed August 5 as the date for opening the annual church encampment in Ceta Canyon at a meeting last week, according to the Rev. B. F. Frona-barger of Canyon. The camp will end August 11.

The ministers will meet again at the encampment grounds southeast of Canyon to complete plans for the affair. Arrangements will be made at this time for putting the tabernacle in shape for services, and final details of the program will be considered, Mr. Frona-barger said.

Forty Panhandle counties are represented in the encampment site ownership, and each of them sends numerous delegates to the five-day meeting.

The Rev. Mr. Reynolds, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Abilene, will be the chief lecturer this year, according to Mr. Frona-barger. The Rev. D. E. Morgan, pastor of the Lockney Baptist Church, is president of the encampment association.

The encampment grounds enclose some of the most beautiful canyon scenery in the entire stretch of the Palo Duro. Ample facilities for recreation, including swimming and boating, camping and hiking, are provided at the encampment. Several thousand people register each year during the course of the encampment.

The event is the largest section-wide event sponsored by the denomination in this part of the country.

T. M. MOORE TO TEACH COLLEGE AGRICULTURE

The Agricultural Department has an increase of one-third over the enrollment of any previous term. To take care of the growing demand for agricultural knowledge, Mr. T. M. Moore, head of the high school agriculture, will become associate professor of college agriculture. He will take up his new duties at the beginning of the fall term.

Big Trades Day For July Being Planned Here

Canyon merchants are planning for the greatest trades day ever held in the Panhandle region. With wheat harvest over and a temporary lull in activity of row crop growers, the event to be staged July 29 seems favored by both season and opportunity.

The July trades day will surpass by far any buying event Canyon ever has attempted, according to plans of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce.

Merchants planned to revive the big free auction for farmers and their friends and to offer a big series of other attractions. Full details of the event will be carried to all of Randall and parts of adjacent counties by the News in its issue of July 25.

New Currency to Be Released Today

Canyon banks will put the new size government currency in circulation here tomorrow, both have announced.

The new bills of all denominations are smaller in size than the present paper money. The government will save nearly $2,000,000, it has been estimated, each year through substitution of the small size money notes.

HUNDREDS HEAR BUFFALO BAND IN PUBLIC CONCERT

A crowd of several hundred people heard the Buffalo Band in an open air program Friday night. Director C. E. Strain has one of the finest bands he has ever developed during a summer session at the college.

Other programs probably will be played during the summer in the public band stand down town.

FOURTH PASSES WITHOUT CELEBRATION OR VIOLENCE

The Fourth of July, last Thursday, passed in Canyon without public celebration. No violence of any sort was reported. No arrests for disturbance of the peace were made, according to Sheriff John Fry.

Numbers of Canyon people spent the day in the canyons or in Amarillo where a large rodeo was presented under the auspices of the Tri-State Fair Association.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Nance, Sr., are now living in Brownsville, Tex. They moved there from Canyon last month.

Mrs. Newton Harrell of Claude was operated on at the St. Anthony's Sanitarium in Amarillo last week. She is recovering nicely and will probably be able to be moved to her home the first of next week. She is the daughter of Mrs. N. A. Croson of Canyon.

WHEAT POURS IN THROUGHOUT CANYON AREA

1000 CARS RECEIVED UP TO WEDNESDAY.

Happy Holds Lead As Big Wheat Market of District With 600 Car Record.

Wheat receipts at elevators in the Canyon district continued to swell this week despite rains which stopped harvest operations temporarily.

Harvesting has resumed its steady pace throughout the county yesterday, according to reports.

While many grain buyers were swamped with detail work to such an extent that they were unable to give actual figures on carload shipments, estimates showed that about 1000 cars have been billed out.

Wheat in storage and piled on the ground had reached such quantities that reliable estimates were impossible.

Happy continues to maintain its long lead as the big market center of the district by shipping an estimate of 600 cars. Congestion of wheat trucks around Happy elevators has been one of the marvels of tourists and visitors to the thriving Swisher County town.

Visitors in Happy during the peak of the rush last week reported trucks loaded with wheat massed three deep for a block near the two largest elevators and similar confusion around the scales of other buyers.

Congestion at Dawn, where car shortage also was reported late last week, was relieved by auxiliary loading equipment, according to reports. The portable type of car loading device has been used frequently this season to supplement the regular loading capacity of elevators.

A new elevator owned by the Toles Grain Company at Happy was opened during the week at Ralph in Randall County. This plant will serve a busy section and save considerable hauling to several large wheat growers.

Another favorite story of the harvest season has been a description of the machinery used by R. B. Gist in harvesting his wheat crop of several thousand acres. Mr. Gist used six combines simultaneously in cutting his grain. Pictures of the Gist grain crew in action will be carried in the News as soon as they are available.

Motion pictures of the harvest on the Gist farm were taken by Travis Shaw of Canyon. Elevators in Canyon have been giving excellent service, handling more than 225 cars since the opening of harvest.

Almost complete adoption of the combine by wheat growers has been given as one reason for the congested conditions of grain markets in this section. With the easier and quicker methods of harvesting made possible by the combine, practically all farmers start threshing at the same time. The wheat

Canyon Banks Have More Than 1,000,000 on Deposit, Reported

The money side of the 1929 wheat crop in Randall County began making its appearance in Canyon last week. Canyon banks have combined deposits of more than $1,000,000 as a result of receipts during the last 10 days, it was understood.

Bank clearings throughout the Panhandle region have experienced a sudden increase during this month because of wheat sales.

The rain Monday gave a majority of wheat growers their first opportunity to collect for their grain, and crowds of farmers with weight slips have been besieging elevator offices this week. Wheat deliveries slumped considerably Monday and Tuesday, but showed signs of new life late yesterday.

Historical Society Adds War Relics To Its Collection

Through the Awards Committee appointed by the Governor for the disposal of German war relics throughout the State, the first large collection of World War relics has been added to the museum of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society. Machine guns, sabers, rifles, shells, and various articles used by the German armies go to make up this interesting collection.

One machine gun is mounted upon a tripod. There is an automatic rifle, besides rifles of six other types used by the German forces throughout the great conflict. Four bayonets illustrates two separate types of close range fighting weapons, besides a French bayonet, two German sabers, a Union lance, and other sabers. An ammunition box illustrates the way their rifle ammunition was kept. A heavy grenade thrower with range finder is another close range weapon of unusual interest.

A 150 long empty shell, besides several smaller empty shells, with detached projectiles gives some idea of the heavier type of warfare.

Articles of more personal import are canteens, a helmet, and hundreds of colored ornaments.

Trips to Cavern Growing Popular With Many People

Thirteen students of the West Texas State Teachers College were visitors at the Carlsbad Cavern June 30. Ten of these made the trip under the auspices of the college, chaperoned by Mrs. Ruth Long Ellis, the others going with friends. The group left Canyon at noon Saturday and returned Monday. Those making the trip were Bessie Fish, Emma McCleery, Joyce Sears, Mary Alice Thompson, Susie Johnson, Dovie Schwartz, Electra Miller, Ina Smith, Mary Russell, Sue Smith, Jewel Smith, and Mrs. Ellis.

A similar trip was made last week-end. Those making the trip were: Mary Ruth Granbury, Roxie Hoskinson, Margene DeBord, Esther Sue Hassler, Bessie H. McGar, Marie Miles, Polly Lee and Marguerite Bourn. These trips are a part of the recreational program of the summer session. A trip to Pike's Peak has been planned for July 13, and the Carlsbad trip will be made several times during the summer.

For the second Monday of the new term, July 22, a trip is being planned to the Colonel Goodnight ranch in Donley County. Evetts Haley, field secretary of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, and Mrs. Geraldine Green, dean of women at the College, intend to make this trip with the students. An effort will be made to have Colonel Goodnight, famous trail blazer and pioneer, meet the group.

crop is cut and threshed by the combine in the period formerly taken to cut and bundle the grain. The natural result is a crowding of all market points, farmers say.

CONTRACT FOR HIGHWAY UNIT TURNED DOWN

FLYNN REFUSES BUILD LAST MILE OF ROAD.

County Road Officials Again Faced With Delay As Project Seemed Near Completion.

Refusal of the Ben F. Flynn Construction Company to permit addition of approximately eight-tenths of a mile of concrete paving to its contract for surfacing the Canyon-Amarillo road, gave county highway officials a new problem to iron out in the two and a half year old project this week.

Provision in the original contract with the Flynn Company, permitting addition to new paving up to a certain per cent of the total, caused county officials last week to announce that arrangements had been made for the last unit of the highway.

Mr. Flynn, however, has refused to accept the addition to his contract, according to county officials, at the square yard price of the first agreement. A time-clause in the contract, providing specification of additional work within a certain period of time was the basis for Mr. Flynn's refusal to accept the job, it was understood.

The Flynn company expected to finish concrete work on the northern end of the road this week and to move immediately to Canyon to complete its contract. A section of the slab from the big hill north of town through the creek valley is all of the road provided for in the original contract which will remain to be finished after this week.

Workmen began puddling this section of the road preparatory to paving last week. Because of the high fill through the valley south of the hill, the construction company was forced to postpone laying the slab on this portion of the road.

County highway officials were awaiting advice from the state department before taking action on letting contracts for the unit of the road Mr. Flynn has refused to build at the original price.

It was considered probable that paving of this unit will be awarded with contracts for the hard-surfaced road south to Happy.

Petitions for the road to Happy have been sent to the state highway department by Randall County officers, and action on them was expected within a few days. A section of the road near Ralph has been re-planned because of an elevator which was constructed directly in the right-of-way specified in the original plan. Blue prints of the new route have been sent to Austin for approval of highway commissioners.

Randall County officers expected work to start on the Happy road soon after completion of the Amarillo highway.

W.T.C.C. Motorcade Will Visit Canyon and See Palo Duro

A motorcade of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be in Canyon Wednesday night, local chamber of commerce officers have been advised. The motorcade of about 100 cars will spend the night here and will inspect the Palo Duro Canyon Thursday morning, according to its schedule.

Plans are being made to welcome the W. T. C. C. visitors and to provide for their entertainment while here. Guides probably will be furnished from here for their trip through the canyons.

After leaving here, the motorcade will be guests of Amarillo Thursday afternoon and will go on to Canadian, Shamrock, and Vernon, where it will disband July 19.

WHITE-GROWDEN

Miss Helen White and Mr. Archie Growden of Clovis, New Mex., were quietly married in Plainview last Saturday evening. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Verne Miller of Clovis.

Mrs. Crowden is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto White of this city. She moved here with her parents from Keosauqua, Iowa, about three years ago, and since that time has attended the College here.

The bridegroom was a student in the University of Mexico and is now a prosperous wheat farmer near Clovis where the young couple will live.

While many grain buyers were swamped with detail work to such an extent that they were unable to give actual figures on carload shipments, estimates showed that about 1000 cars have been billed out.

Wheat in storage and piled on the ground had reached such quantities that reliable estimates were impossible.

Happy continues to maintain its long lead as the big market center of the district by shipping an estimate of 600 cars. Congestion of wheat trucks around Happy elevators has been one of the marvels of tourists and visitors to the thriving Swisher County town.

Visitors in Happy during the peak of the rush last week reported trucks loaded with wheat massed three deep for a block near the two largest elevators and similar confusion around the scales of other buyers.

Congestion at Dawn, where car shortage also was reported late last week, was relieved by auxiliary loading equipment, according to reports. The portable type of car loading device has been used frequently this season to supplement the regular loading capacity of elevators.

A new elevator owned by the Toles Grain Company at Happy was opened during the week at Ralph in Randall County. This plant will serve a busy section and save considerable hauling to several large wheat growers.

Another favorite story of the harvest season has been a description of the machinery used by R. B. Gist in harvesting his wheat crop of several thousand acres. Mr. Gist used six combines simultaneously in cutting his grain. Pictures of the Gist grain crew in action will be carried in the News as soon as they are available.

Motion pictures of the harvest on the Gist farm were taken by Travis Shaw of Canyon.

Elevators in Canyon have been giving excellent service, handling more than 225 cars since the opening of harvest.

Almost complete adoption of the combine by wheat growers has been given as one reason for the congested conditions of grain markets in this section. With the easier and quicker methods of harvesting made possible by the combine, practically all farmers start threshing at the same time. The wheat

Canyon Banks Have More Than 1,000,000 on Deposit, Reported

The money side of the 1929 wheat crop in Randall County began making its appearance in Canyon last week. Canyon banks have combined deposits of more than $1,000,000 as a result of receipts during the last 10 days, it was understood.

Bank clearings throughout the Panhandle region have experienced a sudden increase during this month because of wheat sales.

The rain Monday gave a majority of wheat growers their first opportunity to collect for their grain, and crowds of farmers with weight slips have been besieging elevator offices this week. Wheat deliveries slumped considerably Monday and Tuesday, but showed signs of new life late yesterday.

Historical Society Adds War Relics To Its Collection

Through the Awards Committee appointed by the Governor for the disposal of German war relics throughout the State, the first large collection of World War relics has been added to the museum of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society. Machine guns, sabers, rifles, shells, and various articles used by the German armies go to make up this interesting collection.

One machine gun is mounted upon a tripod. There is an automatic rifle, besides rifles of six other types used by the German forces throughout the great conflict. Four bayonets illustrates two separate types of close range fighting weapons, besides a French bayonet, two German sabers, a Union lance, and other sabers. An ammunition box illustrates the way their rifle ammunition was kept. A heavy grenade thrower with range finder is another close range weapon of unusual interest.

A 150 long empty shell, besides several smaller empty shells, with detached projectiles gives some idea of the heavier type of warfare. Articles of more personal import are canteens, a helmet, and hundreds of colored ornaments.

Trips to Cavern Growing Popular With Many People

Thirteen students of the West Texas State Teachers College were visitors at the Carlsbad Cavern June 30. Ten of these made the trip under the auspices of the college, chaperoned by Mrs. Ruth Long Ellis, the others going with friends. The group left Canyon at noon Saturday and returned Monday. Those making the trip were Bessie Fish, Emma McCleery, Joyce Sears, Mary Alice Thompson, Susie Johnson, Dovie Schwartz, Electra Miller, Ina Smith, Mary Russell, Sue Smith, Jewell Smith, and Mrs. Ellis.

A similar trip was made last week-end. Those making the trip were: Mary Ruth Granbury, Roxie Hoskinson, Margene DeBord, Esther Sue Hassler, Bessie H. McGar, Marie Miles, Polly Lee and Marguerite Bourn. These trips are a part of the recreational program of the summer session. A trip to Pike's Peak has been planned for July 13, and the Carlsbad trip will be made several times during the summer.

For the second Monday of the new term, July 22, a trip is being planned to the Colonel Goodnight ranch in Donley County. Evetts Haley, field secretary of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, and Mrs. Geraldine Green, dean of women at the College, intend to make this trip with the students. An effort will be made to have Colonel Goodnight, famous trail blazer and pioneer, meet the group.

CONTRACT FOR HIGHWAY UNIT TURNED DOWN

FLYNN REFUSES BUILD LAST MILE OF ROAD.

County Road Officials Again Faced With Delay As Project Seemed Near Completion.

Refusal of the Ben F. Flynn Construction Company to permit addition of approximately eight-tenths of a mile of concrete paving to its contract for surfacing the Canyon-Amarillo road, gave county highway officials a new problem to iron out in the two and a half year old project this week.

Provision in the original contract with the Flynn Company, permitting addition to new paving up to a certain per cent of the total, caused county officials last week to announce that arrangements had been made for the last unit of the highway.

Mr. Flynn, however, has refused to accept the addition to his contract, according to county officials, at the square yard price of the first agreement. A time-clause in the contract, providing specification of additional work within a certain period of time was the basis for Mr. Flynn's refusal to accept the job, it was understood.

The Flynn company expected to finish concrete work on the northern end of the road this week and to move immediately to Canyon to complete its contract. A section of the slab from the big hill north of town through the creek valley is all of the road provided for in the original contract which will remain to be finished after this week.

Workmen began puddling this section of the road preparatory to paving last week. Because of the high fill through the valley south of the hill, the construction company was forced to postpone laying the slab on this portion of the road.

County highway officials were awaiting advices from the state department before taking action on letting contracts for the unit of the road Mr. Flynn has refused to build at the original price.

It was considered probable that paving of this unit will be awarded with contracts for the hard-surfaced road south to Happy.

Petitions for the road to Happy have been sent to the state highway department by Randall County officers, and action on them was expected within a few days. A section of the road near Ralph has been re-planned because of an elevator which was constructed directly in the right-of-way specified in the original plan. Blue prints of the new route have been sent to Austin for approval of highway commissioners.

Randall County officers expected work to start on the Happy road soon after completion of the Amarillo highway.

W.T.C.C. Motorcade Will Visit Canyon and See Palo Duro

A motorcade of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be in Canyon Wednesday night, local chamber of commerce officers have been advised. The motorcade of about 100 cars will spend the night here and will inspect the Palo Duro Canyon Thursday morning, according to its schedule.

Plans are being made to welcome the W. T. C. C. visitors and to provide for their entertainment while here. Guides probably will be furnished them from here for their trip through the canyons.

After leaving here, the motorcade will be guests of Amarillo Thursday afternoon and will go on to Canadian, Shamrock, and Vernon, where it will disband July 19.

Mrs. Crowden is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto White of this city. She moved here with her parents from Keosauqua, Iowa, about three years ago, and since that time has attended the College here.

The bridegroom was a student in the University of Mexico and is now a prosperous wheat farmer near Clovis where the young couple will live.

THE THIRD CALLED SESSION

The Governor sprung a surprise on the Legislature during the closing days of the second session by disclosing the fact that he would veto the appropriation bills and call the body back for a third session. Owing to the fact that most of the members of the Legislature were firm in their belief that the appropriations so far passed came within the available revenue of the State, the lawmakers faced the third called session in a rather bad humor.

So confident were the members of the House that the work of the second called session had been a success that practically one hundred had left for their homes before the call for the third called session was issued by the Governor. A quorum answered roll call in the Senate Wednesday morning and the sentiment expressed indicated that a higher appropriation bill is favored by this body than was vetoed by the Governor.

House members who have carefully checked the resources of the State are free to admit that if the Legislature has approved bills calling for more revenue than the State will derive from taxes during the coming two years, the amount is so small that the Governor could have cured the situation by vetoing special bills and some of the items provided for in the appropriation bills. In other words, the Governor with a 10c pencil could have done for the appropriation bills the same that he requires of a one hundred thousand dollar session of the Legislature.

The present situation grows out of the fact, primarily, that the Governor insisted on a very low tax rate last year when the State Tax Board met and the rate was placed at 22c. A campaign was on and the Governor needed campaign thunder. Had the rate been placed at 28c or 30c the State would have had plenty of money.

As the situation is today it will take the constitutional limit of 35c to redeem the State's finances and meet the needs of the institutions for the coming two years.

The House Appropriation Committee has announced that the Education Bill is only $150,000.00 above the total of the bills for two years ago. This includes some items which may be eliminated and as a matter of fact, the bill is actually less than that of two years ago, if a few buildings are eliminated.

Reactionaries may direct a drive against the Educational Institutions, hoping to save the State a few million dollars which Governor Moody is demanding. If this is done and the reactionaries win, the institutions of Texas will greatly suffer during the next two years. The readers of the News will have seen from the daily press by the time this is printed the trend of affairs during this session of the Legislature. Those in close touch predict that when the sum total of the appropriation bills are again placed on the desk of the Governor they will not vary greatly from those vetoed last week. When the King is a boy, the people suffer, says an old adage.

Senator Tom B. Love of Dallas announced Wednesday his candidacy for Governor. As leader of the Hoovercrats last November he hopes to corral those who opposed Al Smith and ride into office on the Anti-Tammany ticket. A bitter fight will be made in Texas during the coming year to make permanent the Hoovercrat organization of last November.

Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller is expected to announce in a few days his candidacy for Governor. Governor Miller is one of the best posted statesmen in Texas. He has an unusual record in standing for every progressive measure during his long Legislative career.

Rumor has it that Earl B. Mayfield, Pat M. Neff, Claude Pollard, R. L. Bobbitt, E. G. Senter and others will be in the race for Governor. Friends of Governor Moody intimate that he might ask for a third term, hoping to be a compromise between those who bolted the ticket last fall, headed by Tom Love, and those who are regular Democrats, headed by Governor Miller. A merry war is predicted in Texas during the coming year.

Jim Ferguson is pouring broad side shots into the two constitutional amendments to be voted on July 16th. He is especially bitter against the increase in the membership of the Supreme Court. He is appealing to West Texans that should the amendment carry, Governor Moody will appoint six judges who will hear the appeal on the Small Land Bill. The Governor is opposed to the bill and Ferguson claims that Moody will seek to have it declared invalid by the Supreme Court. Take that for what it is worth. Incidentally it will be remembered by West Texans that Tom Love fought the Small Land Bill at every stage while it was before the Legislature.

"BLACK-DRAUGHT is a fine medicine to give to children. I use it for mine whenever I need to give them a laxative. They don't mind taking it when I make it into a tea, and it quickly relieves constipation and the bad symptoms which come from it. I can recommend it to other mothers, for I have found it useful in my home. "When I was a child my mother gave it to me whenever I complained of not feeling well. I have always taken it for upset stomach and constipation. It is about the only medicine I have to take. A few doses of Black-Draught, now and then, keep my system in order. My husband takes it, too. WHAT HAPPENED BEFORE

The Sheridan Dramatic Club of which Tom Bilbeck, the narrator, Maryella, the girl he cares for, and Jim Cooper, his rival, are members, are to give Pygmalion and Galatea at the Old Soldiers' Home. Mr. Hemmingway, husband of one of the actresses, thinks Bilbeck is in love with his wife. The escape of prisoners from the local penitentiary keeps Bilbeck busy at his newspaper work, so that he gets away from the dramatic group. But Maryella summons him, and starts telling the story of "Pollyanna," who believes that everything that happens turns out for the best.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"She is a sweet child," I said admiringly. "But she doesn't die, so it is all right," Maryella hastened to reassure me. "There is a great lesson in the book though, and if every one would take it to heart this world would be a better place to live in. Don't you think so?" I looked at Maryella's eyes sharply. I never can tell from the rest of her face whether she is in earnest or not. She was perfectly serious. "Yes," I admitted cautiously.

"All we can do," she went on, "is to make a beginning; but maybe others when they see how beautifully it works will follow our example."

"Us?" I questioned in alarm. "Whom do you mean by 'us'?" "Why, the Sheridan Dramatic Club, of course! All the members whom we have asked so far have agreed to do it. Jim Cooper started it. He just finished reading the book to me last night. I think it is an adorable scheme and also very practical. I wanted you to be one of the first to come in. Mrs. Hemmingway and Jim and I are the only ones so far, but if you'll try it we'll bring it up before the club and maybe change the name of the organization to the Optimists or something like that."

"Ouch," exclaimed Mrs. Hemmingway, who had been sewing away industriously while Maryella and I were talking.

"What's the matter, dear?" Maryella inquired.

"I just stuck the needle in my finger about an inch, darn it," murmured Mrs. Hemmingway feelingly.

"You mustn't say 'darn it,'" reproved Maryella. "The fact that you pricked yourself is all for the best. You ought to be glad."

"Why?"

Mrs. Hemmingway was a trifle petulant.

"Because"—Maryella paused and thought a moment—"because if the needle wasn't sharp enough to prick you, you couldn't sew with it. So you see it is all for the best."

She turned to me triumphantly. "You see how it works out, don't you, Tom? Isn't it lovely?"

"It would be even a better example if it had been your own finger," Mrs. Hemmingway pouted, kissing her own injured digit in the absence of her husband.

When We Came Around the Turn the Home Band Burst into Melody

Maryella disregarded the comment and continued to me:

"Even our afflictions will make us happy if we look far enough back or far enough ahead. There is always some blessing disguised in every ill. All we have to do is hunt for it and if we look hard enough we'll forget all about the misfortune itself and see only the benefit."

Maryella in a moment of enthusiasm is a glowing magnet. I could no more have resisted her then as she stood before me like a little saint fairly alive with the spirit of optimism than an emotional sinner can stand against an old-fashioned revivalist. I knew there would come moments of doubt later when I would kick myself for a sentimental fool, but now I was carried away by her belief in her propaganda.

So I promised to join the cheer up movement and to seek for the kernel of good in every husk of hardship.

"I knew you'd do it," Maryella congratulated. "You'll find it makes everything look so different."

"Some problems are harder than others, of course. One of the very first things that struck me this morning was remembering about your being bowlegged. I couldn't figure out any way that it could be all for the best, but finally I got it. Jim Cooper helped me."

"Oh, he did," I said truculently. "What cheerful outlook could you two get on the dark fact that I am laid out in curves like a park instead of straight like a city street?"

"We decided that it was all for the best, because if it wasn't for the curve you would probably be so tall that your head would bump the ceiling. After we got that one everything else was easy."

What was the use of being angry with her? She evidently regarded my curves impersonally, as if they were some freak of nature impossible to explain, like the Grand Canon or Niagara Falls. It was more fun being with Maryella than against her in a discussion, so I willingly let the subject drop. Adopting our new code, I decided that it was all for the best.

"How long before you'll be thru with that?" Maryella asked Mrs. Hemmingway, who was pinning ruffles on a curious-looking garment.

"I think I can finish in another hour," she answered. "Then, Tom," Maryella went on, taking charge of me and the expedition with her customary eye for detail, "let's get started for the Old Soldiers' Home right after lunch. Is the car running all right to-day?"

"I don't know. Are we going out in the car?"

"Can't we? It will be much better. Besides, there is no train back late at night and we don't want to sleep there. I called up Mrs. Lillelove and she says that we can use their bus, as there is no funeral in town this afternoon. That holds twelve, and if you'll take me and three others that will be all we need. Fred Merryweather went out on the train with the scenery and properties this morning."

I agreed to this arrangement. I had a few private doubts as to whether Grandmother Page would negotiate the thirty miles out to the home and back without making any fuss about it, but I kept them to myself. The prospect of the long drive with Maryella on the front seat beside me was so roseate that I overlooked all the blue goops that might be hovering in the background.

As a justifiable precaution, however, I went to the garage to inspect the car as soon as I left Maryella's house. Grandmother rattled with joy when she saw me coming, as she always does: I gave her a lump of hard grease and patted her on the radiator. As far as I could see she looked as if she would last twenty-four hours longer.

Just to be on the safe side, however, I put a hank of baling-wire and some babbitt metal in the toolbox and bought a package of chewing gum in case the acetylene-gas system should leak anywhere.

When I called at Maryella's house I found that my load consisted of Maryella herself, Mrs. Hemmingway, Mrs. Lillelove and Jim Cooper.

"I don't like to take my car out in bad weather," he explained in answer to my look of surprise. "It's all for the best anyway, because this way we can all be together."

I hastily smothered the reply that rose to my lips and busied myself adjusting the carburetor.

It was snowing slightly and a pleasant winter sting was in the air as I threw in the clutch and Grandmother started up with a jerk as if I had struck her with a whip.

We left town at two o'clock and—here is the surprise with which I close this chapter—arrived at the Old Soldiers' Home at three-thirty without having to stop for anything.

CHAPTER IV.
Comrade Pilk Henwether

I have never received a more royal welcome than that tendered us by those living at the Home. They had heard us coming a long way down the road—that is one of the advantages Grandmother Page has over most cars—and when we came around the turn the Home Band burst into melody.

"Burst" is absolutely the correct word, as you would realize if you had heard the sound and had seen the expression of the players. Grandmother Page shied and nearly jumped into the ditch. The air was "The Star Spangled Banner," but the slide trombonist evidently had the wrong music.

But what a bass-drum virtuoso! I have never heard a bass-drum played more feelingly, even in Sousa's Band. What expression, what shades of meaning the artist put into it! You could just picture the bombs bursting in air. First came the boiler-factory motif, then a minor counterpoint melody of bursting quick-detachable tires, and finally a revision to the original theme in the major key, ending in a magnificent crescendo, a sort of tone-picture of a courtship between two coast-defense guns at two hundred yards' range.

It was magnificent! Grandmother Page was shamed to absolute silence for the first time since we have been acquainted.

As we pranced up to the gate the melody grew a trifle thinner. All the players seemed to be working just as hard, but the result was discouraging. One by one the artists would cease playing and shake their instruments with a puzzled look. At length none was left but the bass-drum player. He hammered away regardless until the leader took the drumstick away from him.

Colonel Stewart, the acting head of the Home, met us with outstretched hand. He was a fine, hearty old fellow with white hair and a close cropped military mustache.

"The boys certainly appreciate your kindness in giving a show for them," he told us. "We're eight miles away from anywhere out here and they don't get many chances even to see moving pictures."

The members of the band came up and he introduced them.

As I shook hands enthusiastically with the bass-drummer, Colonel Stewart said:

"This is Comrade Pilk Henwether. You'll have to speak pretty loudly to him, as he is nearly stone deaf."

I congratulated him. "It's all for the best."

"We're sorry we couldn't play that piece all the way through," apologized the bandmaster. "We know all the notes, but it's so cold that the wind instruments all froze up. I told the boys not to blow damp, but I guess they couldn't help it."

"Never mind," I soothed. "It's probably all for the best."

He looked at me suspiciously, but apparently saw no guile in my eye because he went on cheerfully:

"It will be all right when we get inside and thaw out the horns. Then we'll play it again for you."

We had a lovely time that afternoon. The old soldiers were as eager to play as children. In the summer time they had lots of visitors, but in the winter it was rather dull. The Home is on Three Bears Lake, eight miles from the town of Fair Oaks at the other end where the railroad station is. As a consequence few people take the trip in winter except for some special reason.

Comrade Abel Dreyenfurth had lost a leg at Antietam. That did not interfere with a lively desire to learn the fox-trot and Maryella spent an hour teaching it to him.

The bass-drummer Pilk Henwether, discovered in me a kindred soul.

"I like you, Mr. Bilbeck," he confided at the top of his voice. "I can sort of tell what you are talking about because you make faces when you speak."

The undertaker's bus arrived just before dinner. We all ate together in a large mess-hall. The dwellers at the Home cook their own meals and do all their own housework.

"That's the chief objection I got to the Home," said Pilk Henwether, hardly raising his voice above a shout. "There ought to be some female veterans, I'm durned if I like washing dishes."

The dinner was good, all except the dessert, which was a fallen angel food cake with ice cream.

"Henry Klingman made it," Pilk confided, "and I think it's punk, if you want my honest opinion. But I wouldn't let him hear me say that because it would only hurt his feelings."

As Comrade Klingman was in the room and Pilk Henwether spoke in his ordinary tone of voice there seemed little doubt of his feelings receiving a jolt.

"It ain't so bad though," Pilk went on, "when you come to think that Henry has only got one arm. He says the other one was shot off at Chancellorsville, but it's my private opinion that he lost it running a buzz-saw after the war was over. Anyhow, he draws an extra allowance as a one-armed man."

EVERY evening thousands enjoy themselves at dinner-parties, dances, theatres, games, clubs. Many thousands more are denied the joy of such merriment and happiness.

Maybe this denial is due to a skin trouble. First impressions cannot be good without a clear skin—first impressions are quickly made and are not soon forgotten. Old friends may excuse pimples and secretly sympathize, but new acquaintances may not be so charitable. Skin blemishes are not inviting. Neither can they be covered up. They embarrass. WHAT HAPPENED BEFORE

The Sheridan Dramatic Club of which Tom Bilbeck, the narrator, Maryella, the girl he cares for, and Jim Cooper, his rival, are members, are to give Pygmalion and Galatea at the Old Soldiers' Home. Mr. Hemmingway, husband of one of the actresses, thinks Bilbeck is in love with his wife. The escape of prisoners from the local penitentiary keeps Bilbeck busy at his newspaper work, so that he gets away from the dramatic group. But Maryella summons him, and starts telling the story of "Pollyanna," who believes that everything that happens turns out for the best.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"She is a sweet child," I said admiringly.

"But she doesn't die, so it is all right," Maryella hastened to reassure me. "There is a great lesson in the book though, and if every one would take it to heart this world would be a better place to live in. Don't you think so?"

I looked at Maryella's eyes sharply. I never can tell from the rest of her face whether she is in earnest or not. She was perfectly serious.

"Yes," I admitted cautiously.

Are You Ready

When your Children Cry for It

Baby has little upsets at times. All your care cannot prevent them. But you can be prepared. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do—what most physicians would tell you to do—give a few drops of plain Castoria. No sooner done than Baby is soothed; relief is just a matter of moments. Yet you have eased your child without use of a single doubtful drug; Castoria is vegetable. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot pat away. And it's always ready for the crueler pangs of colic, or constipation, or diarrhea; effective, too, for older children. Twenty-five million bottles were bought last year.

THE BOON OF SLEEP.
EGG STATISTICS.
WONDERFUL LANDS.
EIGHT "BIG MEN."

If you have sound sleep, don't envy any man his millions. An American, very rich, knighted by King George because of the American money he spent in London, was taken to a hospital, suffering from insomnia.

In the morning he was found dead, clutching a piece of paper on which he had written that, as sleep was impossible, he could endure life no longer. He had poisoned himself.

A majority of us go through life, not appreciating our greatest blessings, especially the "Sleep that knits up the ravel'd sleeve of care, The death of each day's life, sore labour's bath, Balm of hurt minds, great nature's second course, Chief nourisher in life's feast."

Until sleep goes, you do not know life's greatest physical misfortune. Every year two thousand million American eggs are confined to hens and incubators. Every year 800,000,000 of them don't hatch.

Much lost possible wealth, at least $200,000,000, at 25 cent per chick. The Department of Agriculture owns one hen, laying eggs of which 90 per cent hatch, and she transmits her qualities to daughters and granddaughters.

This interests millions of women in the United States. The government has thrown open to settlement government lands formerly covered by the Mississippi River. Wonderful lands these are, low, level, deep, heavy black loam.

As the "wind bloweth where it listeth," so the Mississippi flows where it listeth, covering and uncovering land, washing millions upon millions of cubic yards of fertile soil into the Gulf of Mexico. When will man's intelligence control "Old Man River" and make him an obedient part of the national machine?

President Hoover, whose business is engineering will attend to that, was "cut out" for that job.

The President seeks eight "big men" to put on the Farm Board. The big eight and the Secretary of the Treasury will administer funds for farm relief, spending the people's money as intelligently as they know how.

How can you tell "a big man" when you see him, and how can you be sure that your big man understands farm problems?

It would be interesting to put the eight big men, after they are chosen in charge of some typical American farm to see what they could make of it.

The President signs the Boulder Dam proclamation, thus making operative the Boulder Canyon Dam bill.

And now, perhaps, the able engineer elected President, will be able to do what he wants to do, some able engineering.

He Couldn't Work For 5 Long Years

"Sargon did more for me than all other medicines I ever took. I was dreadfully run-down, and suffered from rheumatism continually. My joints were so stiff I could not raise my arms. I would be exhausted if I walked a city block. I had not been able to do a day's work in five years. My system was full of poisons and I suffered from constipation and bilious headaches.

"I started taking Sargon and began improving at once and now my rheumatism is better than it has been in years. Sargon Soft Mass Pills overcame my constipation and the bilious headaches, and I feel wonderfully strengthened helped in every way.

"I believe I will soon be able to go out and work with the best of them."

The above statement was made by E. P. Russell, 1318 Royal St., Dallas. Sargon may be obtained in Canyon from J. J. Walker Drug Store. (Advertisement.)

THE BOON OF SLEEP.
EGG STATISTICS.
WONDERFUL LANDS.
EIGHT "BIG MEN."

If you have sound sleep, don't envy any man his millions.

An American, very rich, knighted by King George because of the American money he spent in London, was taken to a hospital, suffering from insomnia.

In the morning he was found dead, clutching a piece of paper on which he had written that, as sleep was impossible, he could endure life no longer. He had poisoned himself.

A majority of us go through life, not appreciating our greatest blessings, especially the "Sleep that knits up the ravel'd sleeve of care,

The death of each day's life, sore labour's bath,

Balm of hurt minds, great nature's second course,

Chief nourisher in life's feast."

Until sleep goes, you do not know life's greatest physical misfortune.

Every year two thousand million American eggs are confided to hens and incubators. Every year 800,000,000 of them don't hatch.

Much lost possible wealth, at least $200,000,000, at 25 cent per chick.

The Department of Agriculture owns one hen, laying eggs of which 90 per cent hatch, and she transmits her qualities to daughters and granddaughters.

This interests millions of women in the United States.

The government has thrown open to settlement government lands formerly covered by the Mississippi River. Wonderful lands these are, low, level, deep, heavy black loam.

As the "wind bloweth where it listeth," so the Mississippi flows where it listeth, covering and uncovering land, washing millions upon millions of cubic yards of fertile soil into the Gulf of Mexico.

When will man's intelligence control "Old Man River" and make him an obedient part of the national machine?

President Hoover, whose business is engineering will attend to that, was "cut out" for that job.

The President seeks eight "big men" to put on the Farm Board.

The big eight and the Secretary of the Treasury will administer funds for farm relief, spending the people's money as intelligently as they know how.

How can you tell "a big man" when you see him, and how can you be sure that your big man understands farm problems?

It would be interesting to put the eight big men, after they are chosen in charge of some typical American farm to see what they could make of it.

The President signs the Boulder Dam proclamation, thus making operative the Boulder Canyon Dam bill.

And now, perhaps, the able engineer elected President, will be able to do what he wants to do, some able engineering.

He Couldn't Work For 5 Long Years

"Sargon did more for me than all other medicines I ever took."

"I was dreadfully run-down, and suffered from rheumatism continually. My joints were so stiff I could not raise my arms. I would be exhausted if I walked a city block. I had not been able to do a day's work in five years. My system was full of poisons and I suffered from constipation and bilious headaches.

"I started taking Sargon and began improving at once and now my rheumatism is better than it has been in years. Sargon Soft Mass Pills overcame my constipation and the bilious headaches, and I feel wonderfully strengthened helped in every way.

"I believe I will soon be able to go out and work with the best of them."

The above statement was made by E. P. Russell, 1318 Royal St., Dallas.

Sargon may be obtained in Canyon from J. J. Walker Drug Store. (Advertisement.)

NOW IS THE TIME TO PREPARE YOUR WHEAT LAND

With New Style Extra Cup Disc

The 9-ft. HARROW-PLOW, at 3 Miles per hour, will work 30 acres in a 10-hour day; the 6-ft. will work 20 acres.

Works All The Ground

The Harrow-Plow quite often leaves the seed bed in a satisfactory condition for seeding without any further work. If the ground is allowed to lie for some time before harrow-plowing and seeding, another working is desirable to kill the weeds or the volunteer wheat which may have started after the first working.

Another advantage which the Harrow-Plow has over the disk harrow is that it leaves no uncut ridges. It throws the soil all in the same direction and does the same kind of work that has formerly been done with the Wheatland lister and ridge buster. Where the Wheatland lister left hard ridges in the seed bed which were only partially broken up by the ridge buster, the Harrow-Plow works the soil to an even depth and leaves a comparatively smooth bottom to the seed bed.

The Harrow-Plow will, under usual conditions, work as deep as 5 inches. While this implement is a great deal more than a disk harrow, it cannot be expected to stand up under gumbo soil conditions for which the heavier disk plows are built. If used soon after taking the grain off or in soil which is reasonably workable, it will make an excellent seed bed and do it a great deal more quickly and economically.
